

Bee, A Friendly Neighbor

Nature Matters: Where Nature and Culture Intersects

Thursday, March 15
at 7:00 PM

Fort George
+ Public House
Lovell Building

1483 Duane St.
Astoria, OR

Discover the steps to cultivating a pollinator-friendly yard & practice skills for making your environment friendly to bees with naturalist, writer and beekeeper Julie Tennis. She has kept bees since 2008, and is passionate about helping native bees.

For Tennis, the route to appreciating native bees came through her work with honeybees as a beekeeper, and she strives to find balance between the two, recognizing the importance that each population brings to our local ecosystem.

Doors will open at 6 p.m. for those wanting to purchase beverages at the George before the free public event.

Follow us on Facebook

